We're ready.

JOE ROGAN

All right. Well, you four teams have been brought here from all over the country for one reason, to stare fear in the eye as you compete for fifty thousand dollars.

You will each be standing on one of those platforms hanging beneath the helicopter. On "go," you will have to jump back and forth from platform to platform, collecting and placing as many flags as you can before falling. The team that collects the most flags will get to pick tomorrow's order. The team that collects the least amount will be going home. We have randomly selected today's order and, Blaire and Ben, you guys are lucky number one.
